

CARE

WHAT NOT TO DO

... Do NOT jump or stand on your Diamond Mattress Sleep Set. Misuse of this kind could cause unnecessary damage and will void your warranty.

... Do NOT use dry cleaning type fluid on your mattress. Such chemicals can damage the components of your mattress.

... Do NOT place a board in-between your mattress and foundation. This negates the effect and purpose of your foundation.

... Do NOT smoke in bed or expose your mattress to flames of any kind.

...Do NOT allow your mattress or foundation to become soiled or unsanitary. This will void your warranty.

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Use a Safety Shield™ Mattress Protector: The chief cause of warranty voidance is the soiling of the mattress. In order to avoid stains and soiling of your mattress you should use a Safety Shield™ mattress protector, which is waterproof, breathable, and offers allergen and dust mite protection.

HOW LONG CAN I EXPECT MY MATTRESS TO LAST?

The Better Sleep Council suggests that the average effective life of a new mattress is 8-10 years. This is determined by your unique needs and preferences.

The effective mattress life is based on comfort preferences and not manufacturing defects. Like a good pair of shoes, they wear in and become more comfortable over time, but eventually wear out due to no fault in their manufacture.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Adjustment Period - As with a new pair of shoes, after so many uncomfortable years on your old bed it may take time to get your body accustomed to your new bed. This period typically varies from 1 to 4 weeks as your muscles & joints adjust.
- Body Impressions - The comfort layers of a mattress naturally conform to your body and often result in impressions. These body impressions are normal and therefore do not mean the mattress is defective.
*To prevent excess body impressions you must rotate your mattress - whether it is "one-sided" or "two-sided"

A "Body Impression" occurs when the comfort layers of a mattress naturally settle and conform to an individual's unique body.

"Sagging" is often caused by improper foundation or frame support.

Mattress Care

- Proper Frame Is Necessary - A stable, supportive frame is necessary in the prevention of sagging. To comply with the warranty queen and king size beds be on a frame that has solid center support. The queen must have at least one center support leg, and the king must have at least two legs to ensure proper bed support. Make sure that all the legs are level.

*See illustrations below for detail:

Queen/King frame with one leg center support.

Queen/King frame with two legs on center support

A hardwood frame should have a minimum of 5 cross slats and a center leg for center support.

- The Proper Foundation - It is important to replace an existing box spring with a new model when investing in a new mattress. Using an old boxspring with a new mattress has three disadvantages:
 1. The new mattress will feel different once it is set up at home.
 2. The old box spring may not have the proper support, and will thus negatively affect the feel of the new mattress.
 3. The new mattress is likely to sag or wear quicker.

- Move Mattress Correctly - Do NOT fold, bend, or curl your Diamond Mattress. Damages inflicted while improperly moving your mattress voids your warranty.

- Frequently Rotate Mattress - Rotating your mattress equalizes the natural compressions that normally occurs.
